

The Great Fleece - Start

Jonathan Weinberger / Al Heck

Fade in, Darren is gliding down a rope from the ceiling, camera panning as he goes down.

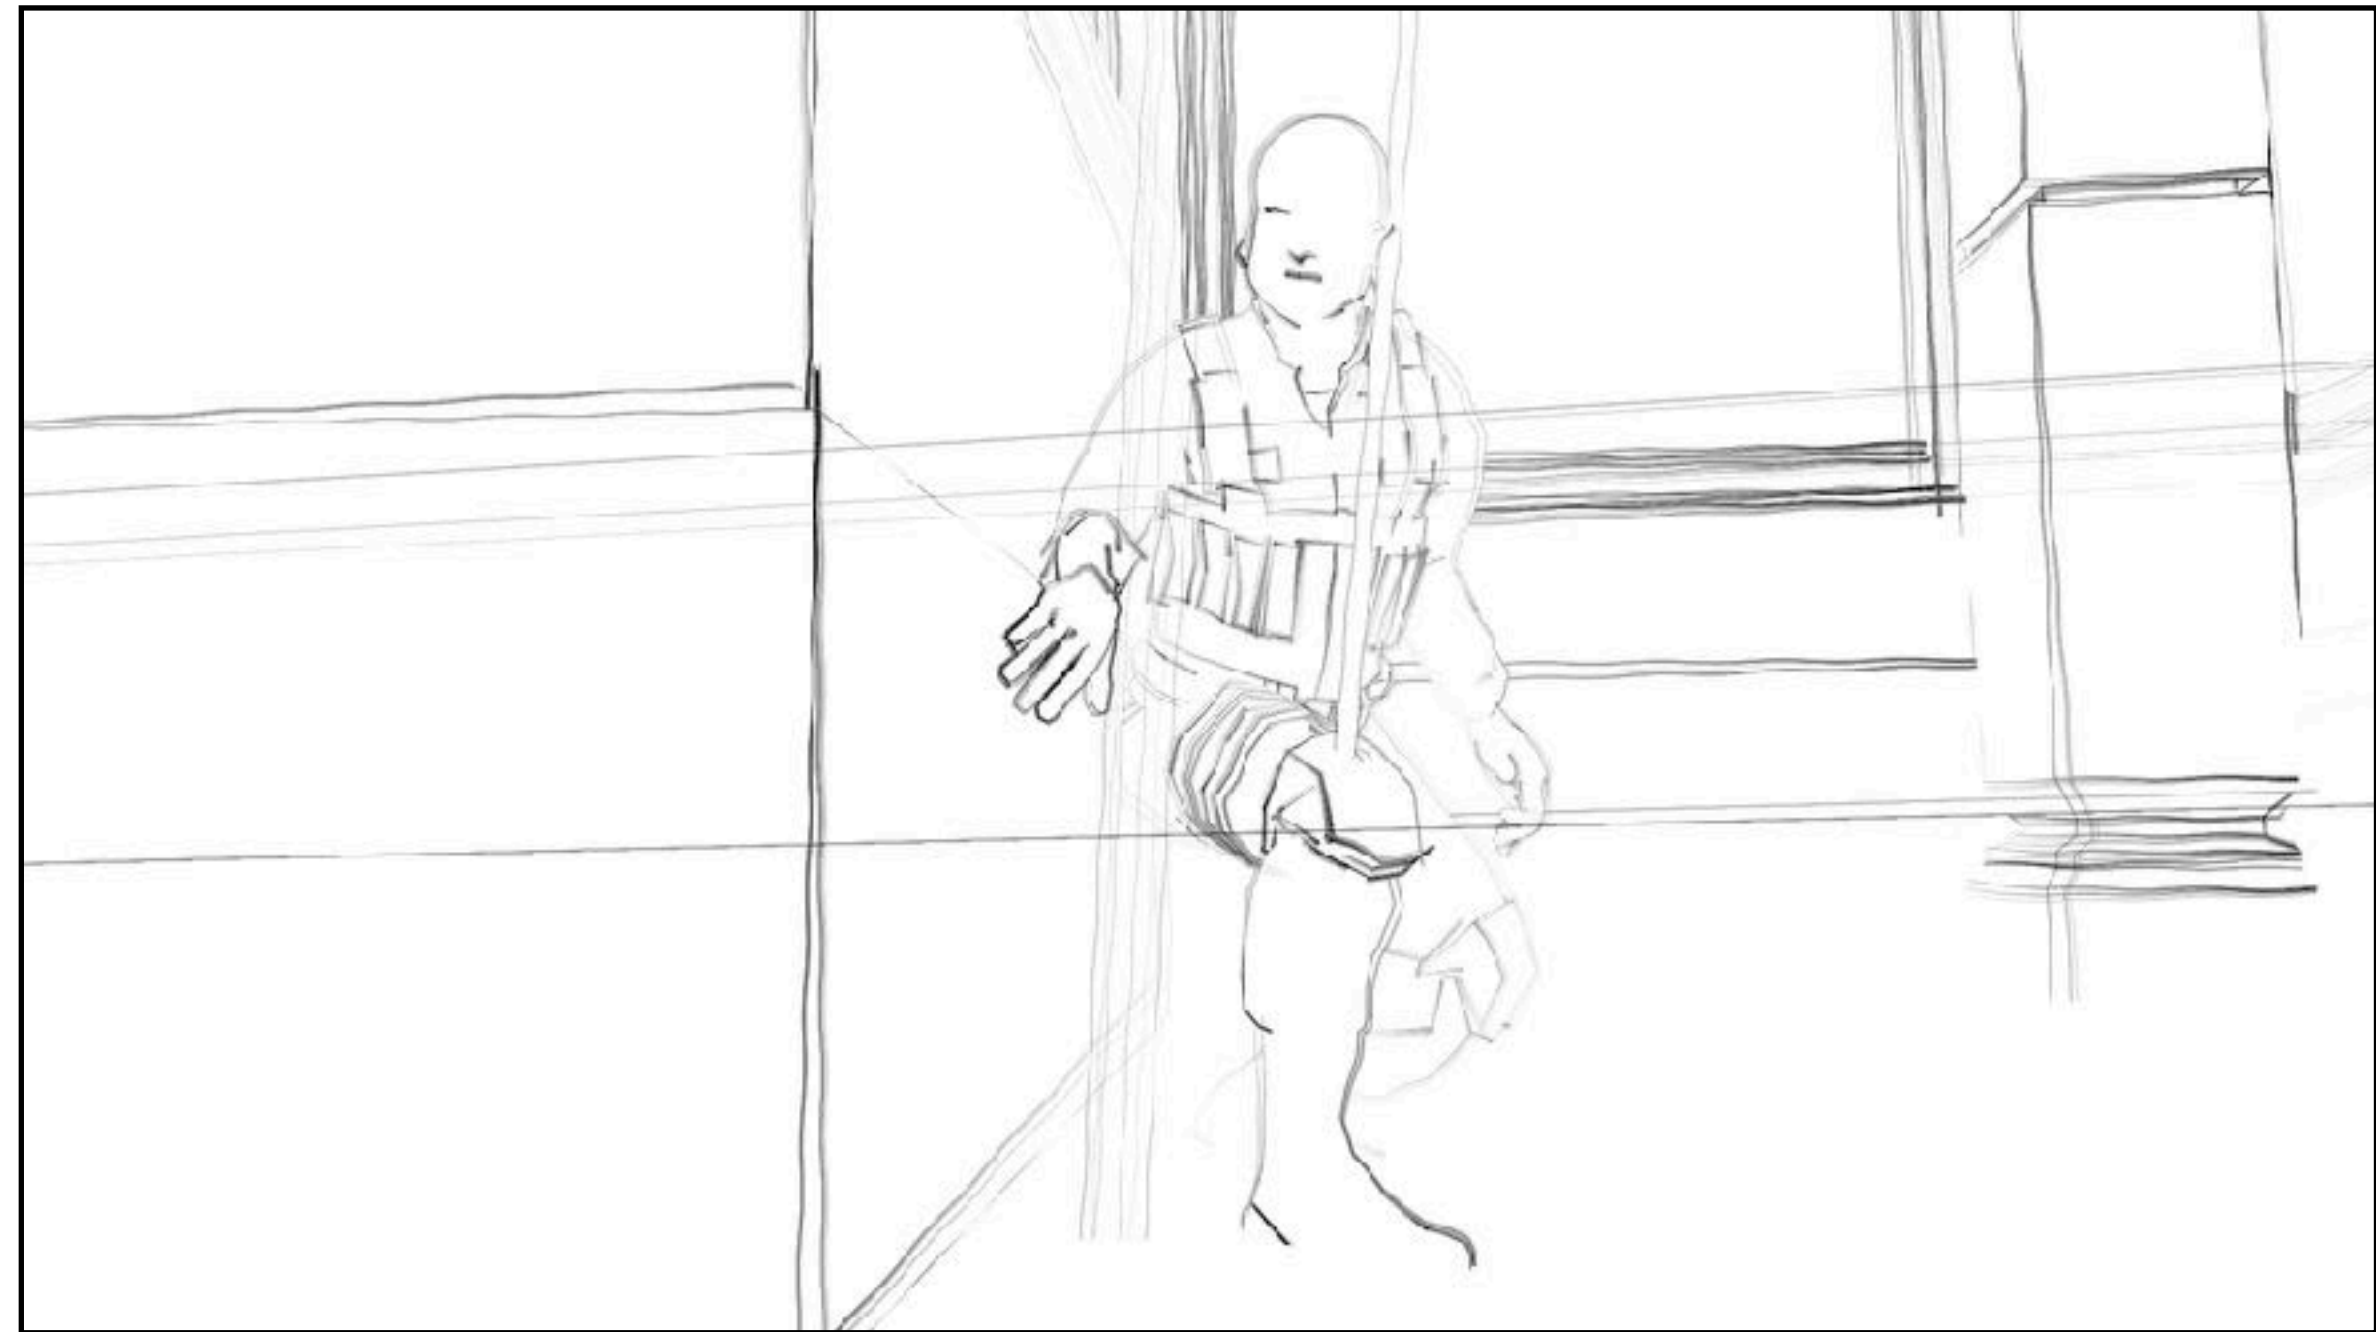

Place security guard on left, Darren drops down in a darkened corner of the room.

Pan around as Darren grabs his headset.

Darren: Oliver, I'm in.

Oliver: Good, I hope you didn't run into any trouble

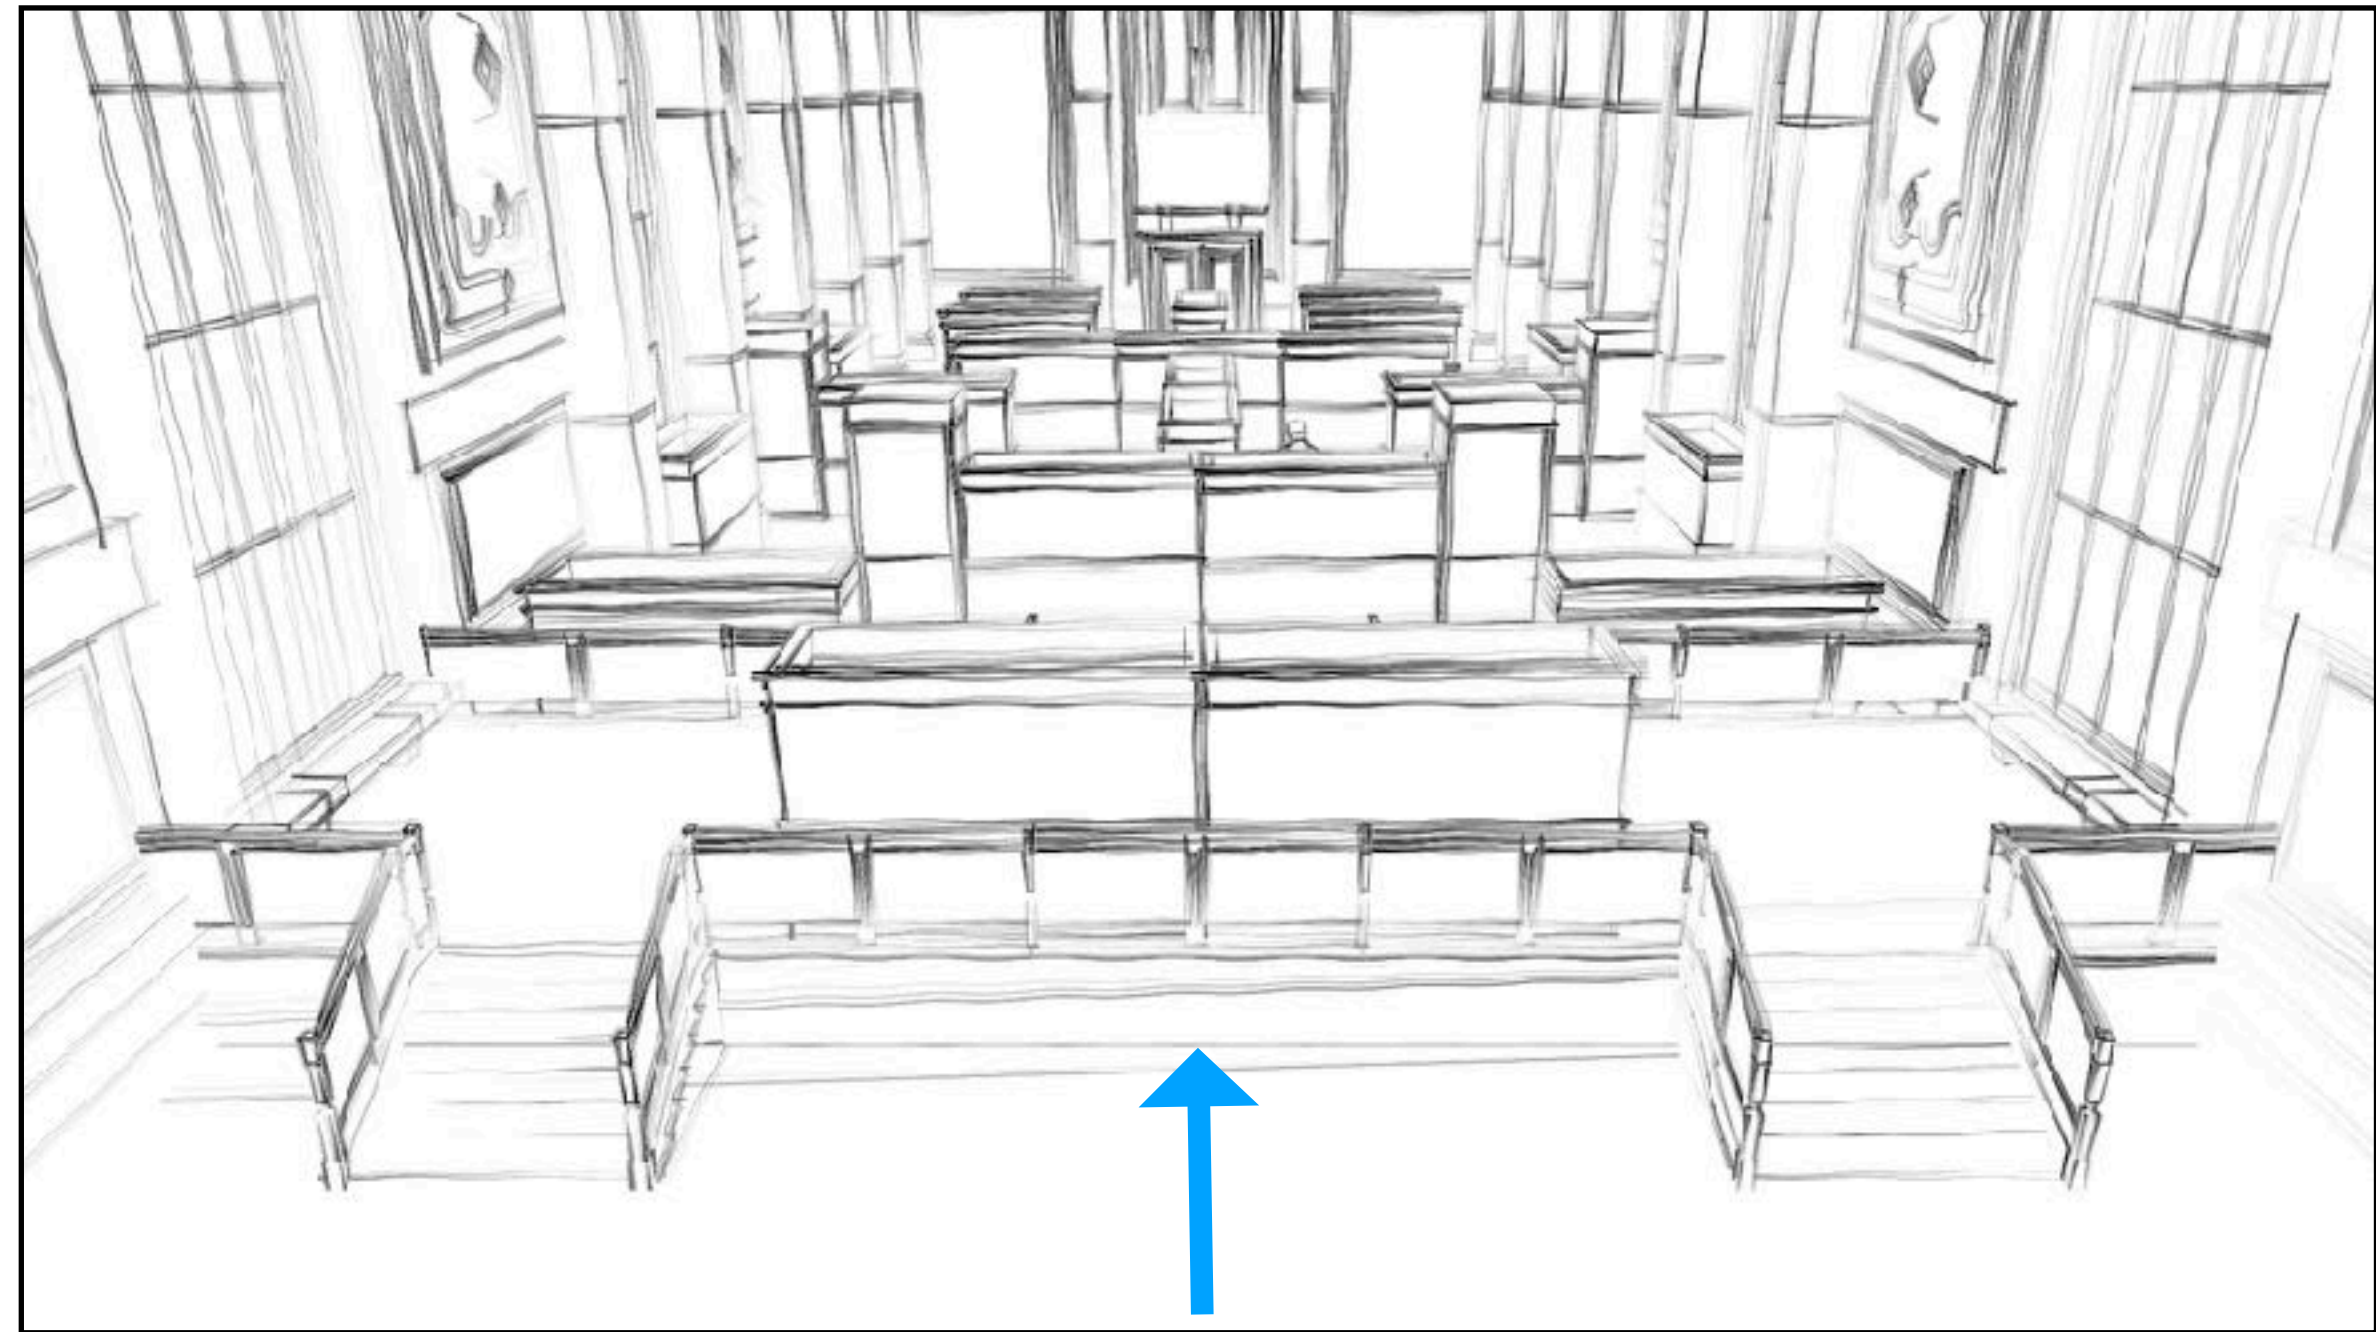

Camera rises to reveal area.

Oliver: Darren, you've made it into the grand foyer of the Beatrice Auction House.

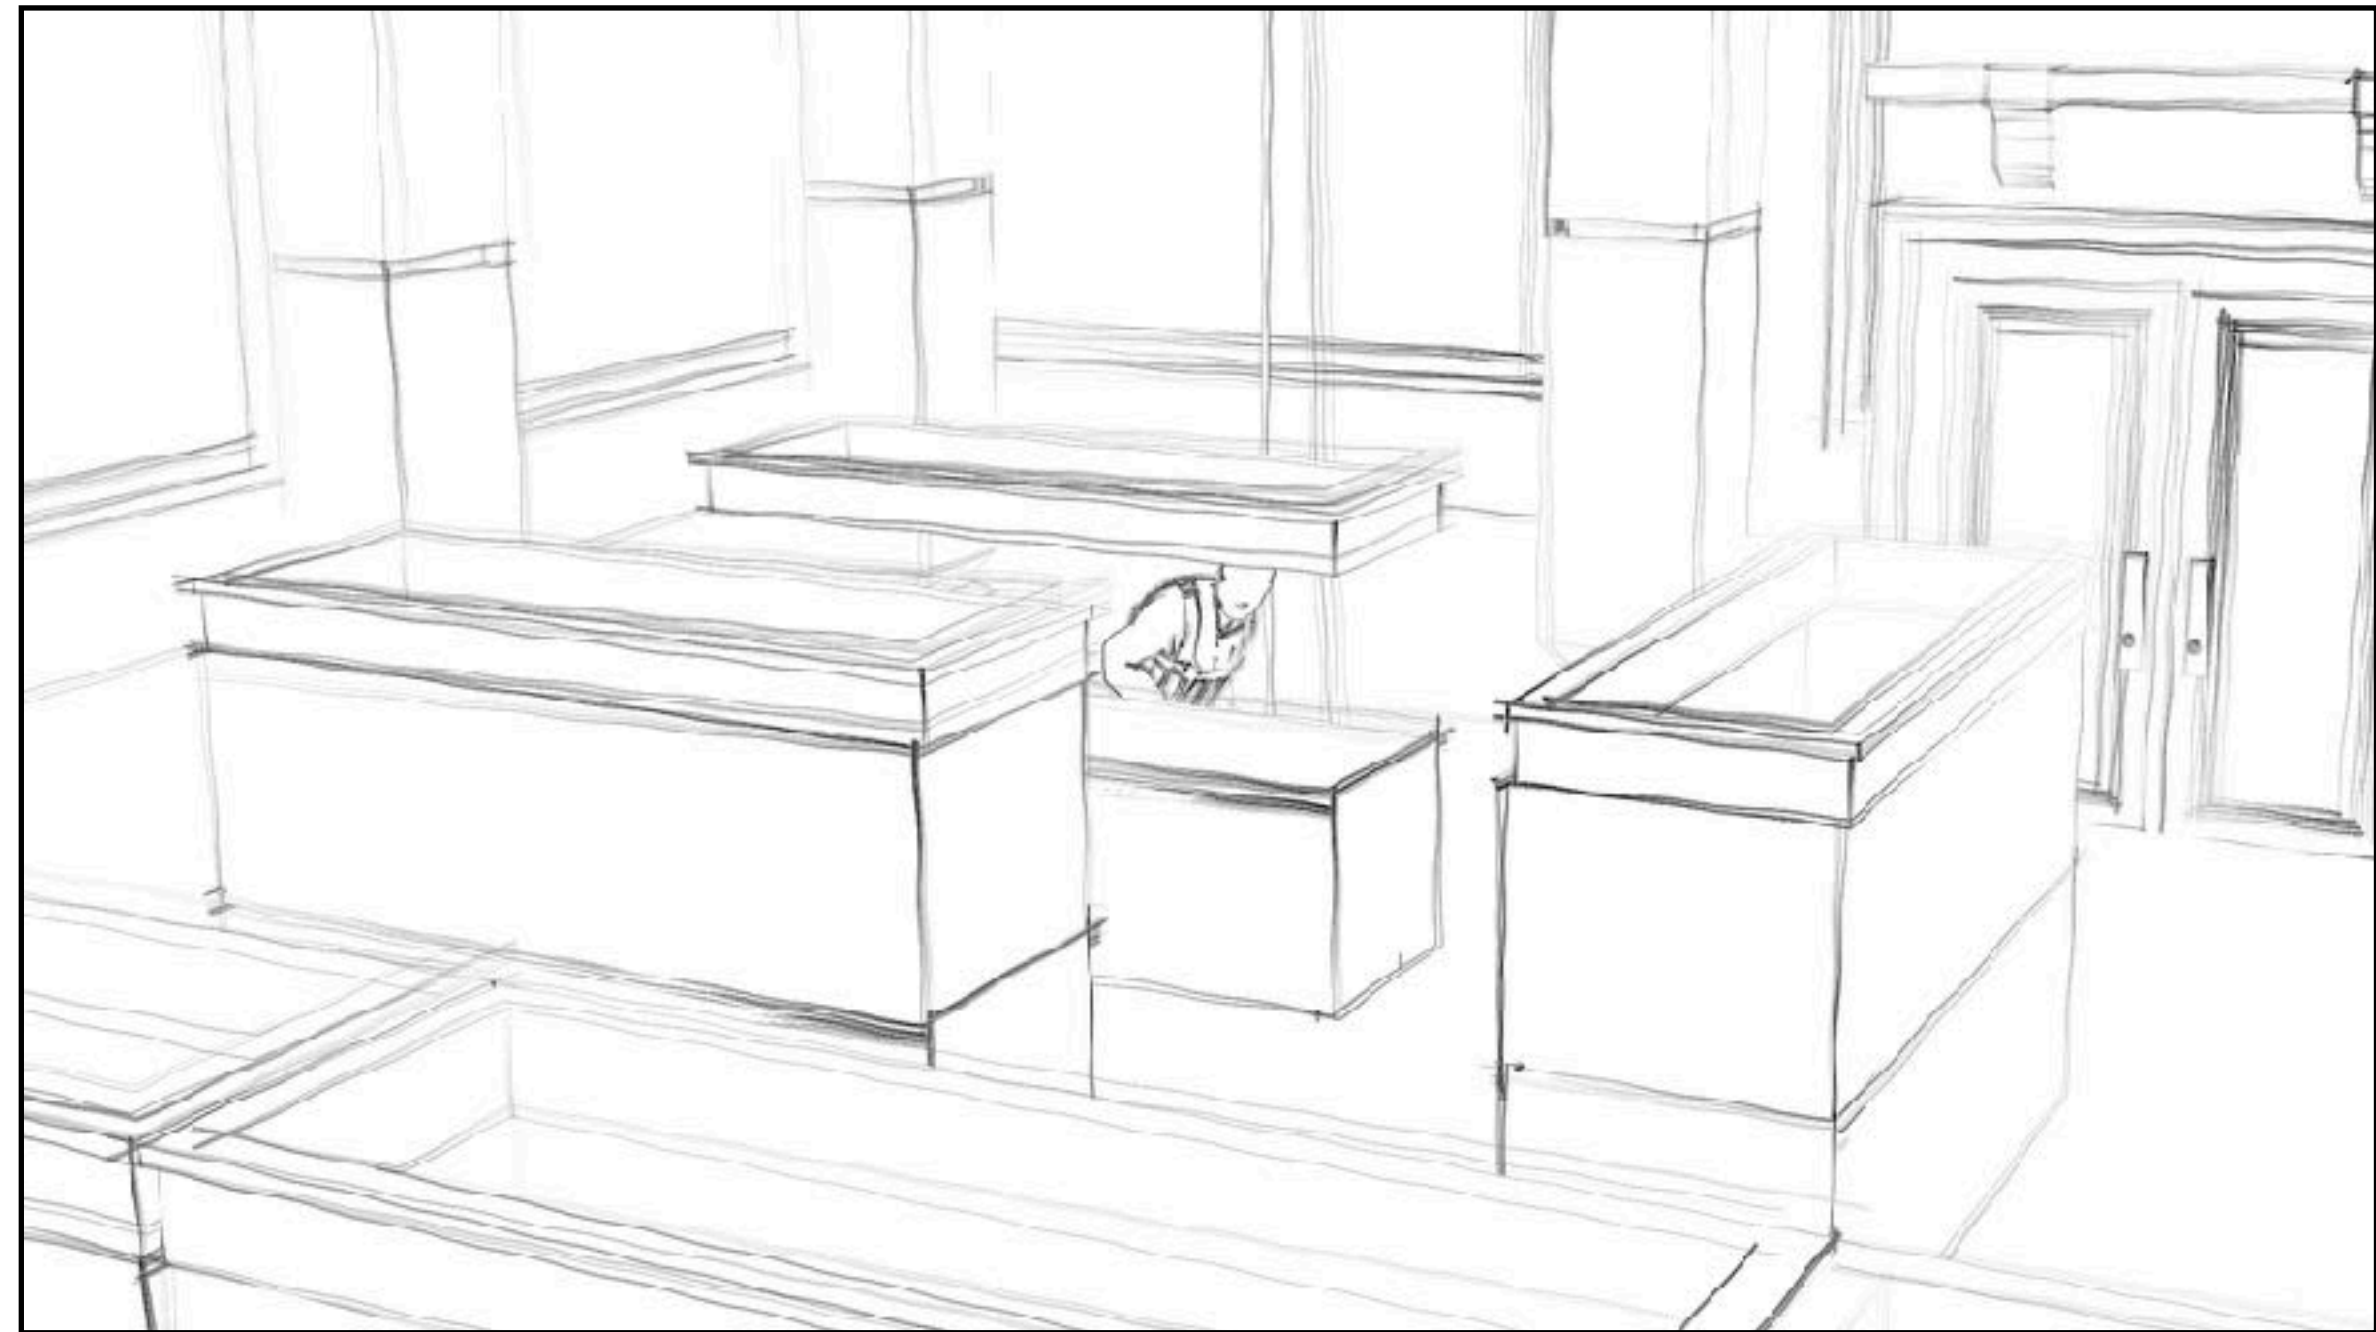

Darren: The items in this room are worth millions.

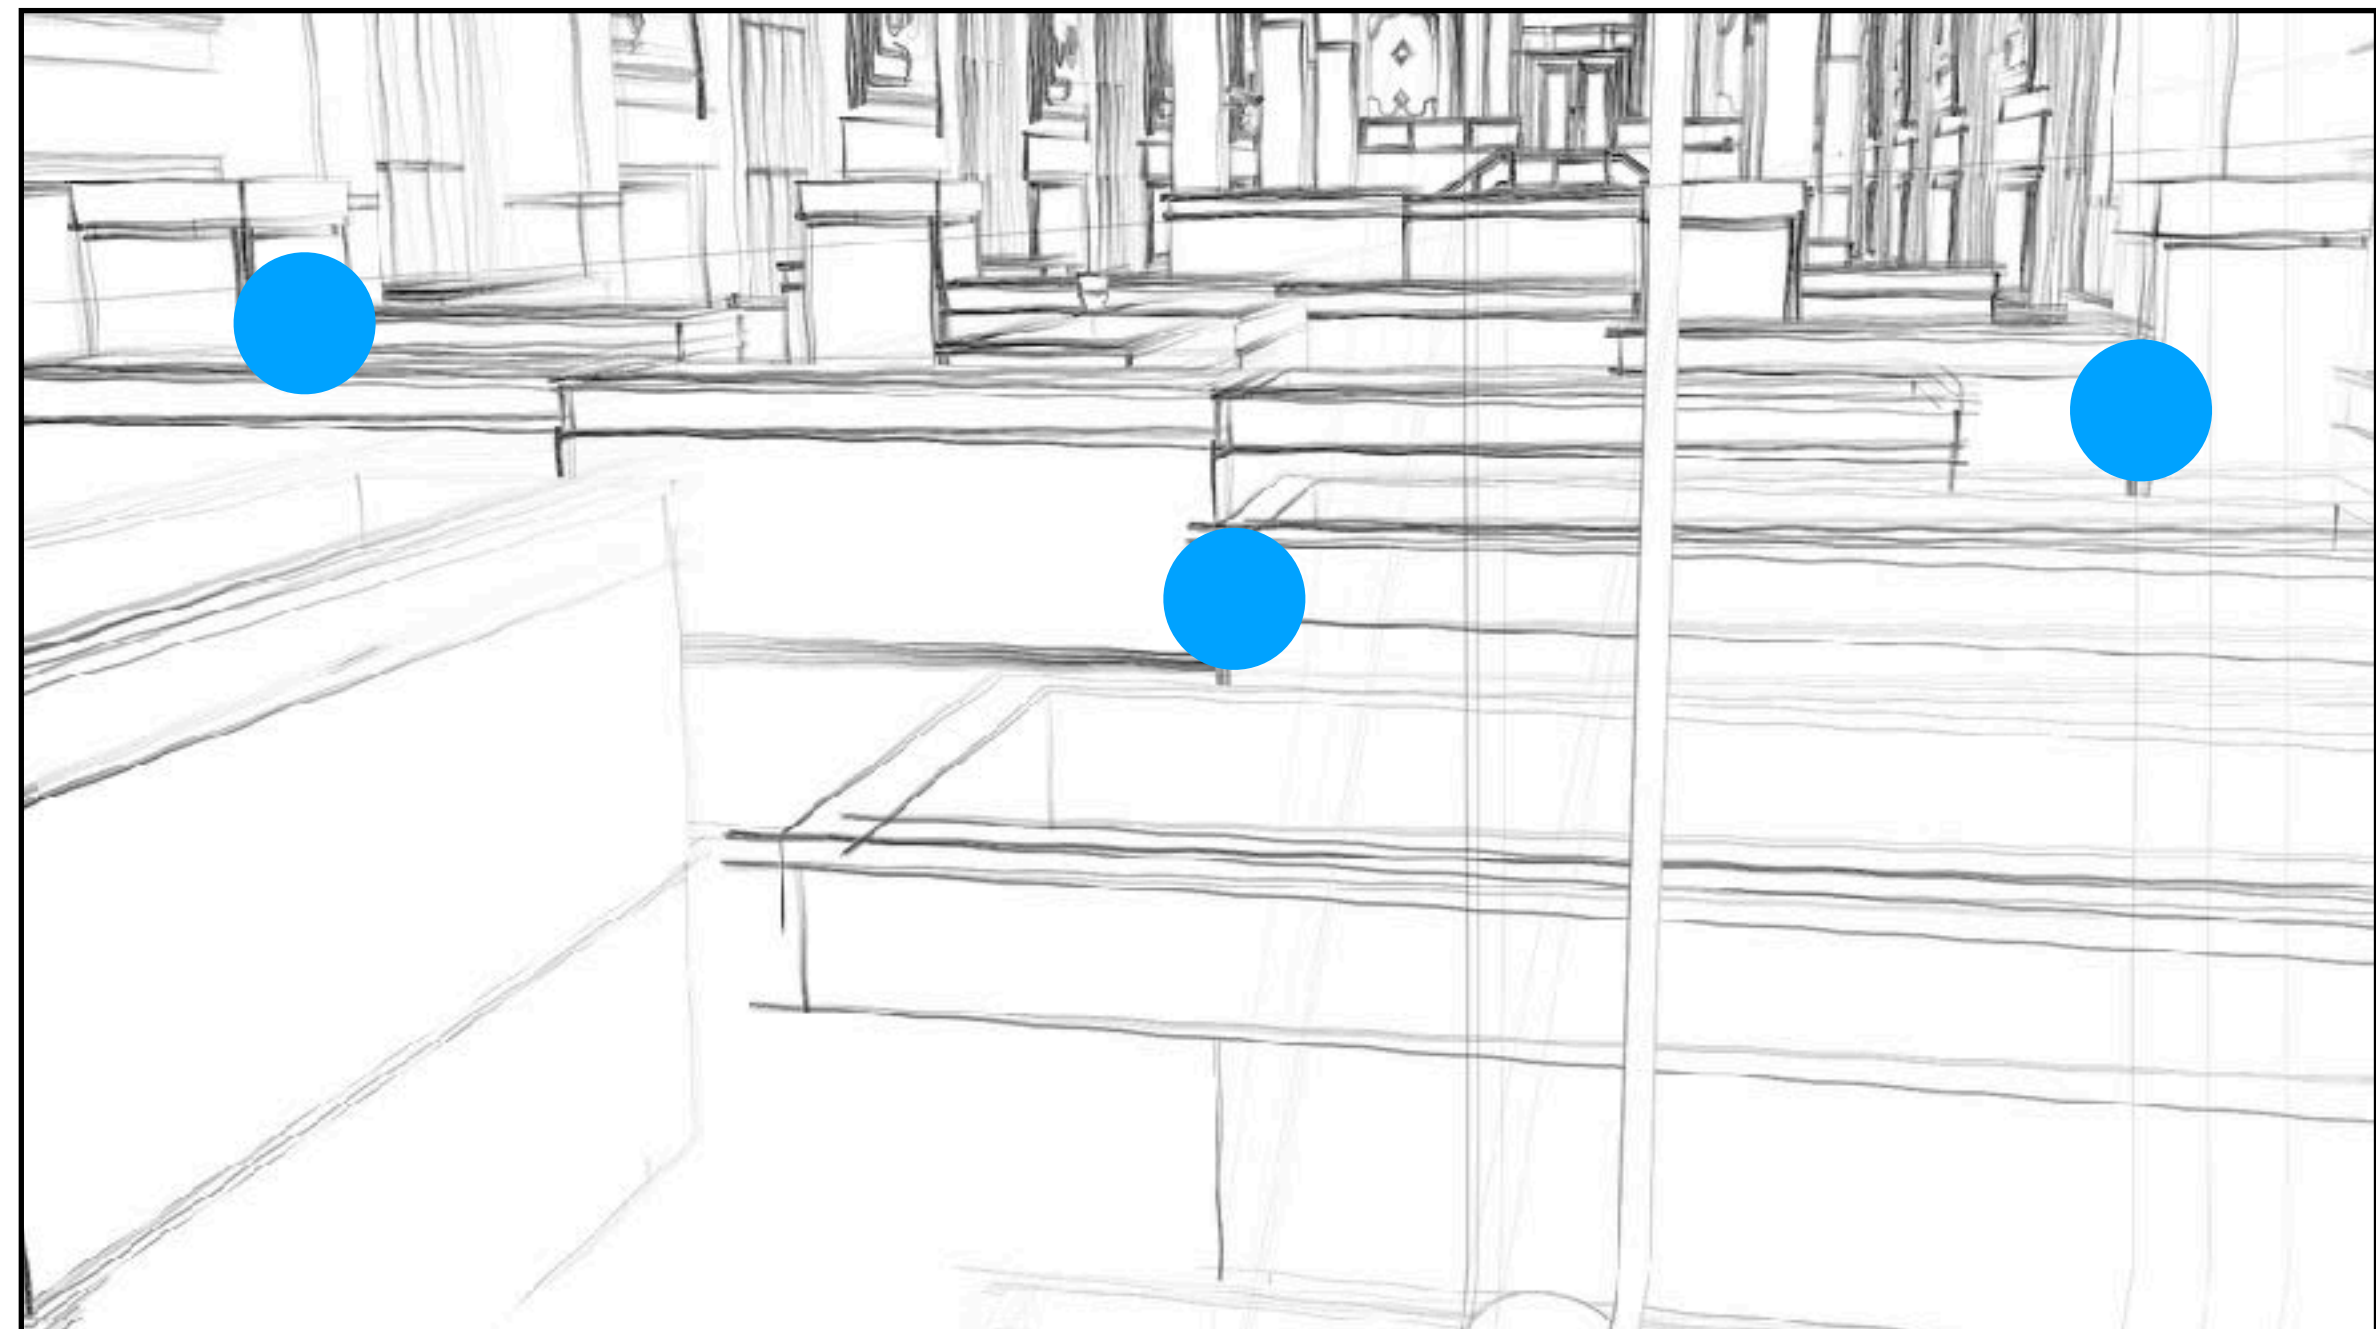

Darren: (Cut to Darren) Darren: I feel underdressed. So where's the main vault?

Oliver: Unfortunately, on the other side. Do you see the guards?

Oliver: Watch their patterns to see how to get past them. Now look at the security cameras. (Blue dots are guard placements)

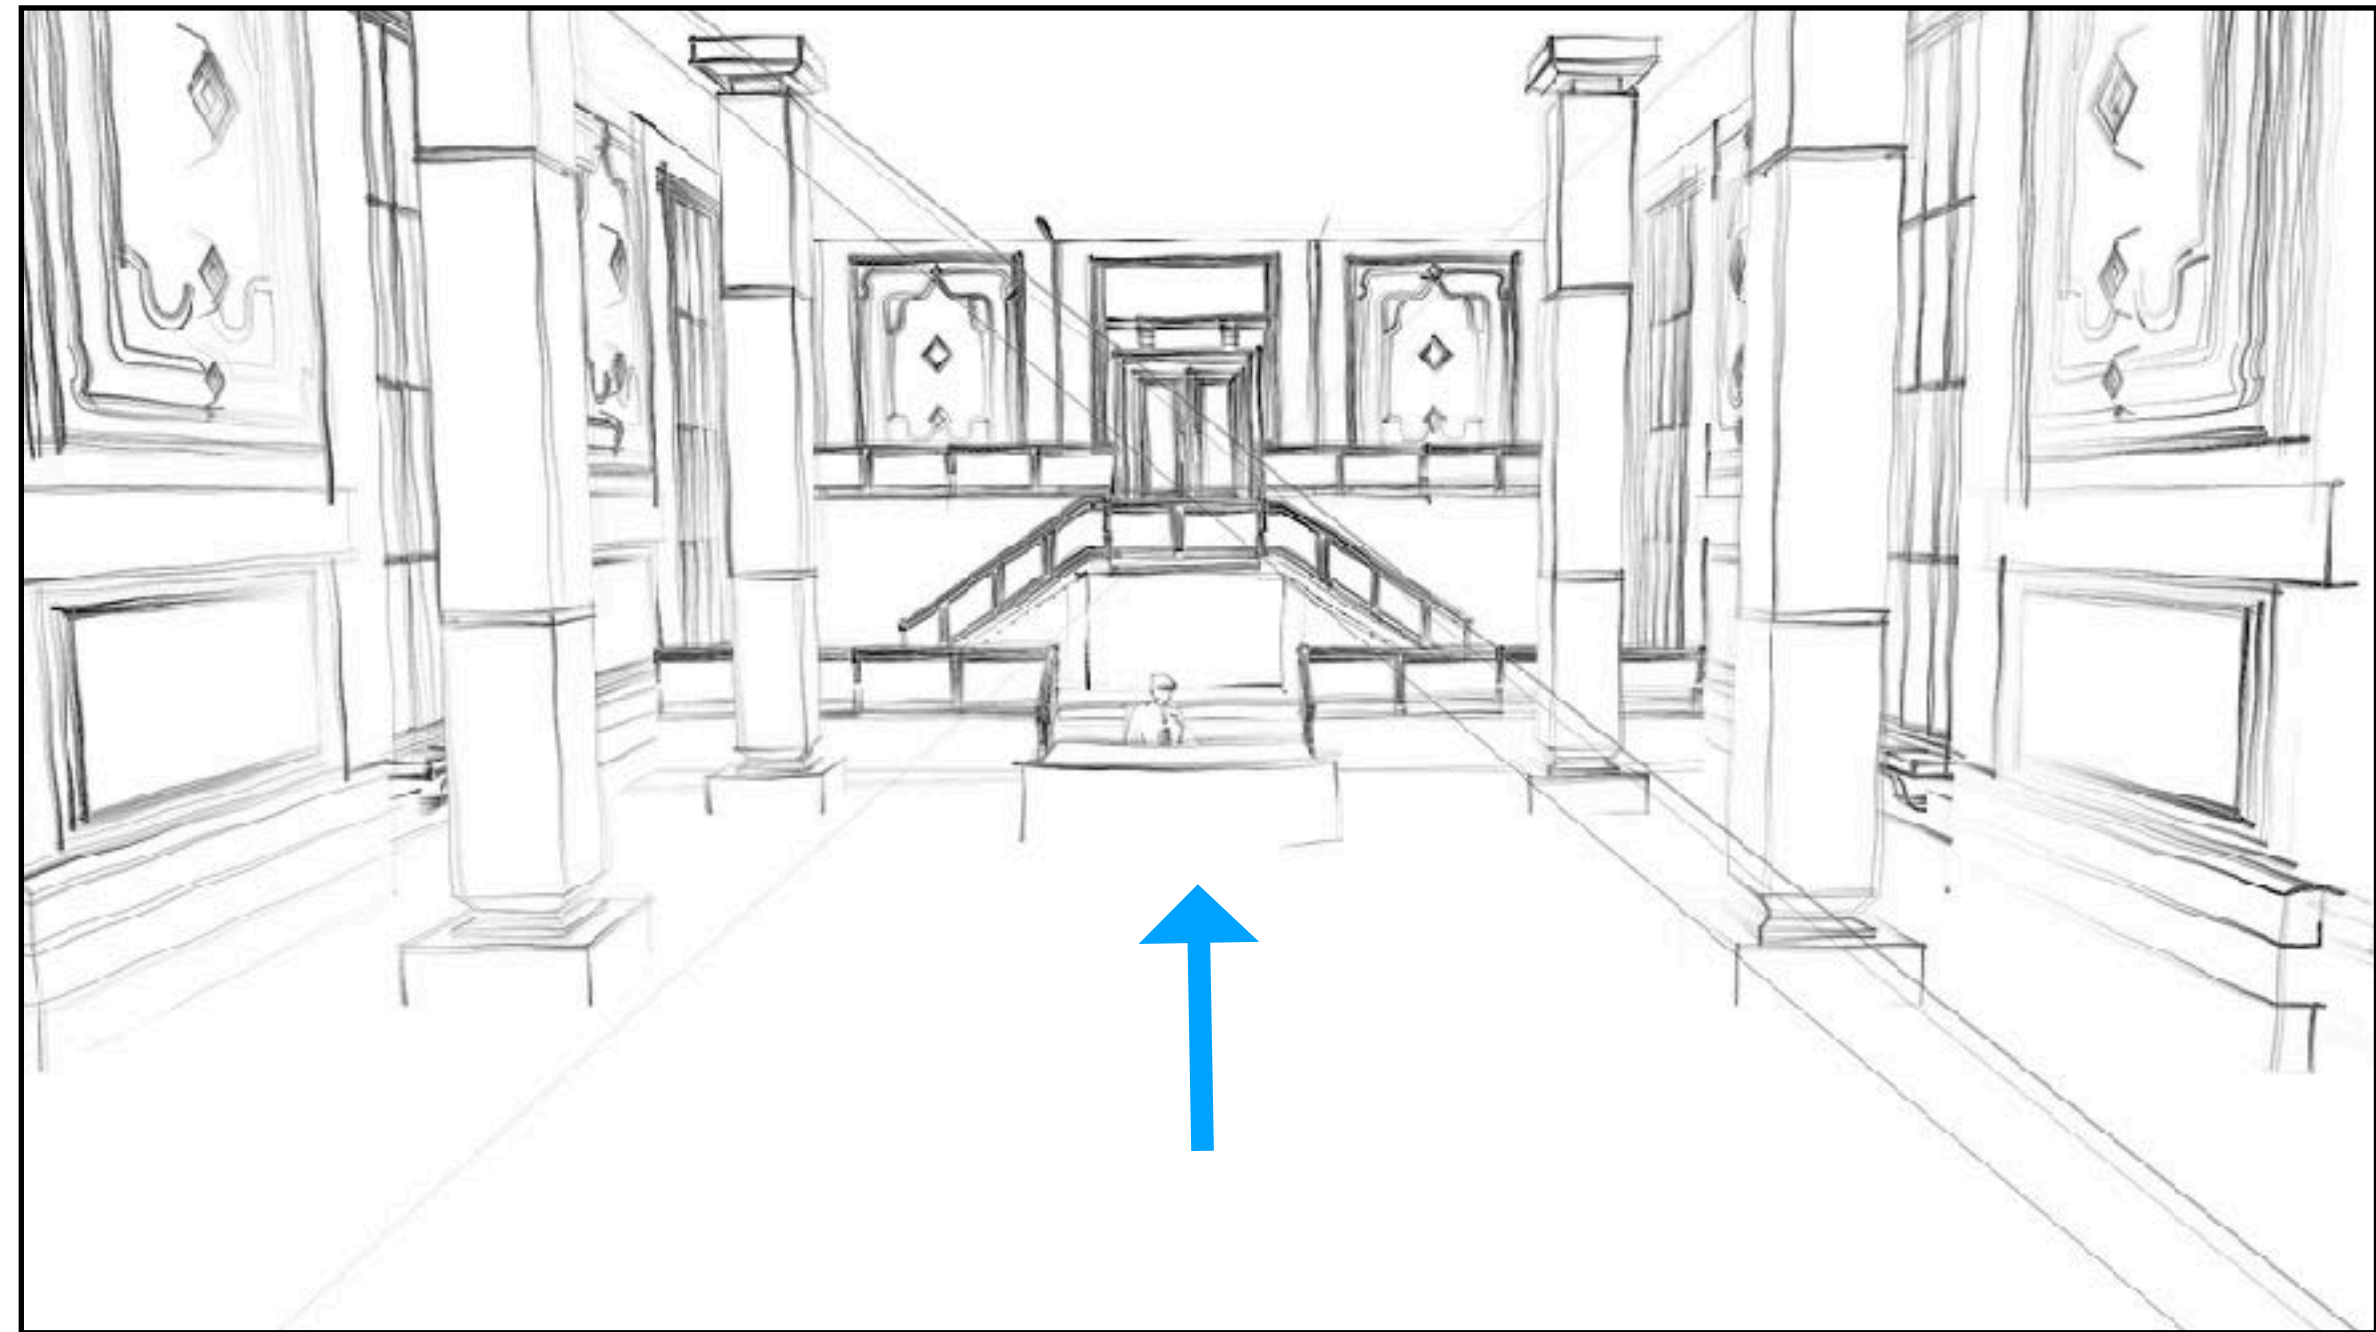

Oliver: Those cameras won't see you if you are directly under them. Just move when they aren't pointed in your direction.

Oliver: Anything else?

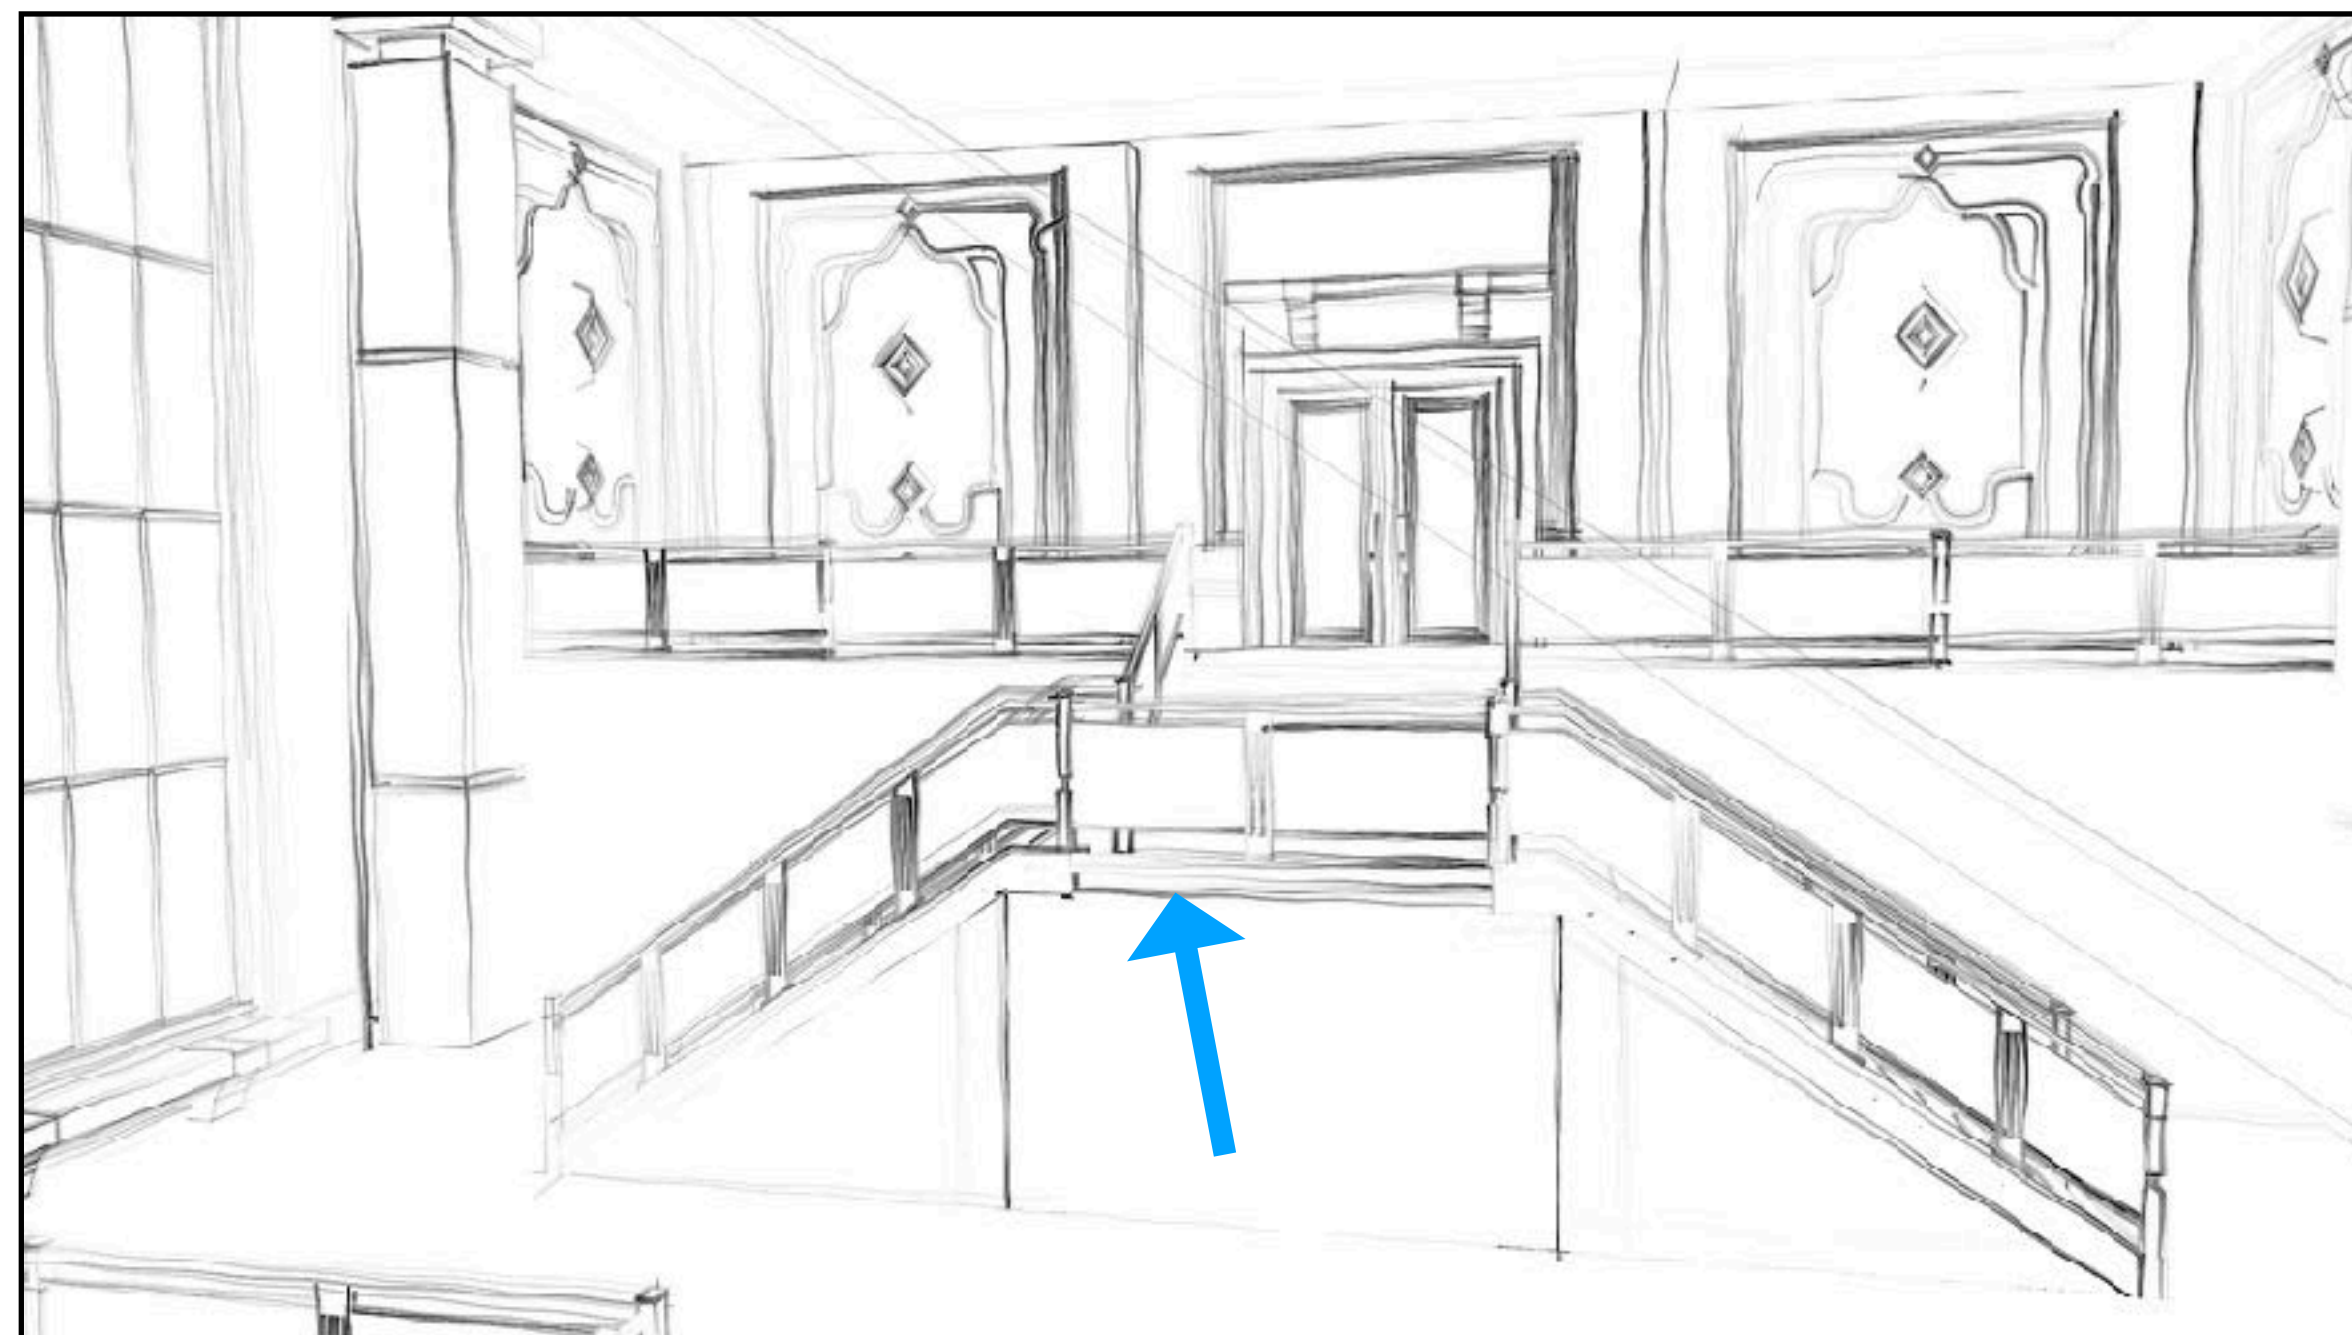

Oliver: Do you see that guard over there? The one reading a magazine? He's been on that same page for the past hour. I guarantee you he's asleep

Oliver: and he's got a key card hanging off his belt.

Oliver: You'll need that card to get inside the vault.

Darren: This ain't my first rodeo cowboy.

Oliver: Noted.

